Judges Choice Ribbons may be awarded and The ADS Wells Knierim Ribbon will be presented to the best photograph in Show.

The above and following notes present a formula or Template for Photographic Rules and Classes as used in past ADS daffodil shows. It presents a guide for writing your Schedule. Of this the only ADS Requirement is that the photographs “Celebrate” the daffodil. Each of the five classes may be subdivided as needed. The Photo Committee may also determine to divide the classes when writing the schedule. If kept to Five Classes these easily subdivide as the need will be noted when the photos are entered. It has been found however, that if there are too many initial classes they may be under subscribed and consequent competition diminished. However, if a large number of entries are present, subdivision can enhance the classes, the competition and the quality of the show.

2015 ADS Photography Committee,

Schedule Themes

Since the National Show in Baltimore, local Photography Committees have found ways to relate Class Names to the locality of the show. As in Design Classes this discovers a delightful means to provide additional, amusing challenges for photographers. No strict formula for these exist. We encourage creative interaction with the committee and potential photographers.

Judging

We strongly recommend three judge panels with the Team leader conversant with daffodils and their special qualities and nuance. Judges from local photography groups and someone conversant with the special needs of two-dimensional design as well as photography add to the knowledge base for judging.

We have found that Photography Club Judges apply standards that often expect more than Daffodil Photographers provide. Our purpose in encouraging members and the public to contribute Daffodil images is to broaden our understanding of the daffodil, enhance our knowledge of the flower and of the art of photography. Adhering to Judge Quinn's admonition, we encourage giving ribbons in an ADS Show while encouraging participating photographers to explore the very best in photography and two-dimensional design.

The classes if subdivided as required, allows at least three images in each subdivision.

Judging points awarded might be evenly balanced:

Creativity	25
Composition	25
Craft	25
Content	25
Total	100 Points

The 4 "Cs" allocation of Judging, developed by Northern Virginia teacher Photographer and Judge Joseph Miller, neatly guides judging. It is not intended to be rigid rather as a guide to weighting the images. We are aware that Photo Judges often bring their own useful ideas on Judging. However, in an ADS Show we hope to encourage photographers to "see" images and grow in expertise.

The allocation of points may also be adjusted to include adherence to a theme if used. This becomes the 5 Cs, if you will.

Creativity	25
Composition	25
Craft	25
Content	10
Compliance	15 (with schedule and theme)
	100

Judges are encouraged to give ribbons and advice to enhance the artistry of the photographers and their understanding of the medium.
